

Rosa Parks

She went to a school where there were no white people . She went to a big school. She went on the bus. The driver got up and asked her to move. She would not and told the driver to call the police. She had to give some money. For 381 days some black people did not use the bus. The law was changed so white and black people can sit next to other black and white people.

